

City2See DIRECT

A quick and low cost way to access aerial photography for your business

City2See is pleased to announce the introduction of its new subscription service, City2See Direct, for customers who wish to purchase multiple images for business applications. These images are essential for property development applications, real estate promotion, legal reports submissions, insurance investigations, landscape design, environmental studies and many other business applications.

City2See Direct builds on the same excellent features that are already available in the very popular City2See web site such as:

- Complete high resolution aerial photography coverage of urban areas, available on a continuous basis;
- Ability to search entire coverage by typing a specific street address;
- No need for you to store anything on your computer;
- Access to the complete coverage available through any standard Internet connection - no special plug-ins or software required;
- Low cost of images, starting from $14.90*;
- Browse through a list of well known landmarks;
- Zoom in or out to see more detail;
- Scroll around using directional arrows; and
- Add property boundaries.

As an established account holder you can quickly purchase as many images as you like through the new City2See Direct service. There is no need to enter credit card and address information details each time. Digital images are delivered immediately. High quality hard copy is delivered to your office within 5 days. The benefits to your business are many:

- Single log in through username and password;
- Generous discounts for multiple purchases;
- Account status able to be viewed at anytime; and
- Time saving in not having to enter company details for each purchase.
